

TREMENDOUS VOTE TO BE POLLED FOR OAHU

An extremely heavy vote cast with unusual quietness with practically no election-day rows at the polling places marks the end of the 1912 campaign in the city and county of Honolulu.

Returns from all the town precincts were received by the Star-Bulletin today, special arrangements being made by this paper to get an early forecast of the strength of the vote. Up to noon the vote was heavy enough to indicate that probably half of the voters would cast their ballots by one o'clock this afternoon.

Little was heard from out-of-town precincts except that the weather is good and the vote is slow, the voters apparently preferring to stand around and discuss matters a good deal before casting their ballots.

The election in the city is one of the quietest ever held, in spite of the big vote. Little liquor was in evidence during the morning and this was a big factor in maintaining law and order and making the voting rapid.

The new form of election ballot provided for by an act of the last legislature, by which every candidate has his party designation before his name, facilitated the voting, as loyal party men went straight down the ticket voting for the men opposite their party name.

Voting in the fifth district and in the sixth, seventh and a few other Fourth district precincts was brisk, but several Fourth district precincts were very slow.

Party Headquarters Quiet.

Both the Republican and Democratic headquarters were quiet all day long, as the workers were out in the precincts. The auto trade was active, and hack and motorcycles are doing a flourishing business.

Chairman Bennett Hivenburgh of the Democratic county committee said at noon today that the election is going along to suit him. He said that according to reports from Hawaii, the Big Island will return a majority for McCandless.

Chairman B. von Damm of the Re-

Precinct Returns Show Heavy Vote Cast in City And County

First Precinct, Fourth District.

Voting at Kaimuki was going along quietly this morning with 113 votes out of 403 registered cast at 9:30 o'clock, and a telephone report toward noon stating that more than 200 votes had then been cast. It was evident that there would be some split ticket voting, particularly on the supervisory ticket, and Sam Hardesty, Democrat, seems to be getting the benefit of it.

At Kaimuki 253 votes out of 403 registered had been cast at 2:30 this afternoon.

Second Precinct, Fourth District.

Delay in getting up instructions to voters in the booths kept the balloting from beginning here until 8:20 o'clock, and complaint was made that one of the Democratic election officials appeared to be entirely unfamiliar with his duties and delayed the voting seriously. At 4 o'clock only 55 votes had been cast out of 383 registered.

Registration 355, ballots cast at 2:10 p. m., 273. Voting was very quiet here; 190 ballots had been cast at 12 o'clock noon, the first ballot of the day being cast at 8:20 this morning. So far as partisan observers can see the Democratic and Republican strength appears about evenly divided.

Seventh Precinct, Fourth District.

Out of a total registration of 311, 235 electors had cast their vote at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Balloting is lively with no trouble encountered and no time being lost.

Third Precinct, Fourth District.

Polls were established at Wilder avenue and Punahou street on the theory that the upper Manoa voters would cast their ballots as they came down town and got off at the street car junction, but the balloting went slowly in spite of this arrangement.

At 11:05 o'clock 140 out of 300 ballots had been cast. Five booths only out of six were in use, the authorities having failed to provide enough voting instructions, etc.

At 1:40 this afternoon 314 votes had been cast. This leaves a balance of 173 to account for the full registration.

Fourth Precinct, Fourth District.

This was one of the quietest precincts of the fourth district. At 10:55 o'clock 145 out of 362 ballots had been cast and the serenity was all pervading. The polls were almost deserted and party workers reported that the voters had already made up their minds before coming to the polls and could not be changed.

Fifth Precinct, Fourth District.

Thomas Square, the polling place, was quiet all day. At 10:45 o'clock 120 out of 332 registered voters had been cast. The Republican precinct club set up a marquee in a couple of hundred feet from the polling place and dispensed soft drinks and kind words to all alike, not drawing the line at Democrats. In fact, such a leading Democrat as William Wolters paroled of soda water at the invitation of those in charge. "Billy" Thompson, C. G. Ballentine, Lawrence Judd, committee man for the precinct, and others, were in charge of getting out the vote and made complete arrangements for doing so.

A Republican badge wearer said that Bartlett was not very strong.

Sixth Precinct, Fourth District.

At 10:40 o'clock today the "brewery precinct" was voting a long line of men steadily, and 195 out of 445 votes had been cast, with the line moving rapidly through the polling places. There was no evidence of disorder and a police officer kept up a show of authority when electioneering near the polls became too obvious. Charles G. Bartlett, candidate for supervisor, was keeping a watchful eye out at this precinct. The clerks reported

AEROPLANE OUT OF PLACE IN MOROCCO

Throws Terrible Burden on the Transport Service; Overrated as "New Arm"

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Reginald Kahn, an authority on aviation, writes to the Temps that a very great mistake has been made in sending aviators to Morocco, where they are out of place. Let them be brought back to France, he says, where their place is on the eastern frontier. In Africa they can only continue to make flights of a merely sporting interest along the coasts. Aeronautics no longer have any need of such an advertisement.

Mr. Kahn contests the right of aircraft to the title of "new arm," as on to the present its offensive value is recognized as negligible. It is true that a bomb-dropping competition is in progress, but its conditions are not those of war, and the experience of the Italians in Tripoli has shown that the moral and material effect of explosives dropped from aeroplanes is very small.

The services that the aeroplane can render, says M. Kahn, are, first, the discovery of the enemy's batteries; secondly, strategic and tactical reconnaissances; thirdly, it may serve

REPUBLICANS CLOSE CAMPAIGN BEFORE THOUSANDS OF VOTERS

Palace Square Holds Great Crowd—Speakers Are Eloquent

Five thousand people at a conservative count crowded the Palace Square grounds last night for the closing rally of the Republican campaign, stayed through intermittent showers until long after eleven o'clock, and altogether afforded the Republican leaders complete satisfaction and more confidence than they have had from any meeting for the entire campaign.

Speaker after speaker was given warm applause. However, the applause was not so satisfactory to the campaign managers as the deep and respectful attention accorded to those who spoke.

The Democratic meeting at Aala Park was larger in point of numbers during the early evening, but the numbers of voters, according to an estimate made, was not as great as the number that attended the Republican rally, while the Aala park meeting was noisy and half those present were occupied in exchanging heated political views among themselves than in listening to the those on the platform.

Palace Square was all the blaze of glory that J. Walter Doyle, the Republican publicity director, had promised. Electric lights of many colors were strung around the square and glowed in the trees, the bandstand, where the speakers, candidates and musicians were seated was lighted by many additional bulbs, and the almost continuous bursting of big sky rockets kept the square light as day for minutes at a time.

The torchlight procession arrived promptly on time, and the meeting opened about 7:30 o'clock. Robert W. Shingle, chairman of the territorial central committee, presided and made an apt and clever presiding officer for one of the biggest Republican meetings ever held in the territory.

Delegate Kuhio had gone to Waialua for a short meeting there, and did not reach Honolulu again until nearly ten o'clock, and there was some stringing out of the speeches and pictures in order to hold the big crowd. George Davis was the first speaker, and he was followed by A. D. Castro, with Col. Sam Parker and Collector of Internal Revenue Cottrill delivering the main address of the evening, though Kuhio's speech naturally held the center of sensational interest.

The speakers were usually eloquent and forceful, and this, coupled with the excellent class of moving pictures handed out by Eddie Fernandez, kept the crowd without any difficulty.

Mr. Cottrill made a strong speech for Republicanism, and incidentally made an election-day prophecy that President Taft will be returned to office. He spoke in hearty eulogy of Taft and of his work for the Republican party and the country at large.

Andrew Cox followed Cottrill, and Kuhio followed Cox. The most important part of Kuhio's speech is published in another column of this issue. The delegate urged the voters to cast their ballots for the entire Republican ticket and especially to elect a republican legislature. He declared that his record in Congress is an open book, that he is not afraid to ask for reelection on the basis of what he has done.

A. S. Kaleipou, George F. Kenton, W. T. Rawlins, Charles F. Chillingworth and several others spoke during the evening.

A summary of the candidates made short addresses. Rawlins made a bit in his plea for the election of Capt. Robert Parker as Sheriff.

Seaweed Goes Into The Soup.

Then bales of seaweed, gathered by Victoria Chinese for their brethren in the Orient, were shipped out on the Mexico Maru when the vessel left for the Far East a couple of days ago. It will be made into soup and is regarded as the finest kind of a delicacy. The Chinese have some special process for preparing the seaweed for shipment and on reaching China it is readily bought up by the Celestials for making soup.

Claudine in a Day Ahead of Schedule.

One day ahead of the regular schedule, the Inter-Island steamer Claudine is back from Hawaii by the way of the Maui ports. The vessel returned light, there being but a few passengers and a small cargo. The Claudine met with fair weather on the homeward trip. This steamer towed the American schooner Prosper from Kahului to sea on last Saturday.

BARRON WORKS IN VOTERS' LINE

"Soap-box" Barron was the cause of some friction this morning at the polling-place of the ninth precinct of the Fourth district the polling place of which is at the central fire station.

According to a report which reached Republican headquarters shortly before ten o'clock, the soap-box orator had planted himself in the voters' line and was preaching Democratic doctrine. Whenever an attempt was made to put him out of the line for electioneering closer to the polls than the law allows, Barron would refuse to get out on the ground that he was waiting to vote. Instead of voting, however, he stayed in line and electioneered. About ten o'clock he finally went in the booth to vote.

"I told Barron that if he didn't stop his dirty slurs and quit electioneering I would take off my coat and we'd see who was the best man," said a Republican voter, who is about the size of the soap-box Demosthenes. Then he shut up, saying, he didn't mean his slurs that way. He broke the law openly in order to help boost the Democrats.

It is reported that there are several cases in which men have registered in two precincts which may cause trouble at the polls and the watchers will be on lookout for any work of this kind. Sheriff Pua, who has been making his campaign apart from the other candidates, will have his own watchers and with his control of the police will leave no loophole for trickery.

In the local supervisor fight it is expected that the four regular candidates, John Brown and John Ross, on the Republican ticket, and David Ewaliko and Manuel Pacheco, on the opposing combination, will be close together, with the odds rather in favor of the last two mentioned, but Ross having a fair chance as the result of the number of Hawaiian candidates. The two independents, Cabrinha and Kealoha, are both out of the race, save for hurting the Republican candidates, which they are sure to do.

For the offices of County Clerk, County Auditor, County Attorney, Kai, Maguire and Beers are certain.

Kuhio Far In Lead.

The Delegate fight on this island is bound to give Kuhio a big majority. Two years ago the vote was: Kuhio, 1787; McCandless, 762; Notley, 446. This year it is doubtful if Notley polls over 150 while there are about 250 more votes to be cast. From a very conservative estimate it looks as though there would be about 3075 votes cast which, with Notley's 150 eliminated, will probably be divided as follows: McCandless, 1150; Kuhio, 1930. This would give Kuhio 780 majority. There figures are extremely conservative from the Kuhio standpoint and the chances are good that he will come much closer to 1000 majority than to the 780 mentioned.

LYMAN FINALLY SENDS IN HIS RESIGNATION

Evidently deciding that forelight is better than "hindsight" Norman Lyman, supervisor in the Puna district Hawaii and candidate for election as a legislator from that island, yesterday afternoon sent to Governor Frear by wireless his resignation from the supervisory job. His resignation was sent in response to a message sent him by the Governor.

It is Lyman's tacit refusal to accept the advice of Attorney Carl Carlsmith, which was given Lyman and another candidate a few days ago to the effect that they could not be compelled by law to resign from their present public positions in order to be legal candidates for the legislature. Lyman evidently gave the suggestion careful consideration, for his resignation came only at the last moment. He concluded not to take the risk of embarrassing complications.

HOW ELECTORAL VOTE IS DIVIDED

There are 531 votes in the electoral college, of which a majority of 266 is necessary to elect a President. New York has the greatest number of electoral votes, 45, while several States have as low as three. Hawaii, as a Territory, has no electoral vote. The following table shows the electoral vote by States, and will be valuable in estimating the election results next Tuesday night, for the States with the big electoral votes are obviously the most important to carry:

Alabama	12
Arizona	3
Arkansas	9
California	13
Colorado	6
Connecticut	7
Delaware	3
Florida	6
Georgia	11
Idaho	4
Illinois	29

ELECTION FIGURES FOR COUNTY TWO YEARS AGO

Two years ago, the Republican ticket swept Oahu, losing the mayor, sheriff and one member of the board of supervisors.
